Community Use Buildings

As a proactive member of the design team, Portland recognise the various requirements of different user groups of this type of building, and the associated financial limitations.

St Martin's Centre, Walker, Newcastle

The scheme provides a new church, community centre and Surestart centre, all built in two phases.

The Round, Ouseburn, Newcastle

This technically demanding project created a 180 seat theatre within a triangular courtyard bounded by a music venue, 19th Century warehouses and a listed wall. Funded by the members of the Bruvvers Theatre Group, budget was a high priority.

St Luke's Church, Wallsend, Tyne & Wear

Conversion and refurbishment of the church to create community centre space. Included installation of a new mezzanine floor designed to fit snugly within the complex varying geometry of the existing church masonry and a new glazed entrance area to accommodate the existing church doors.

Wickersley Community Centre and Library, Rotherham

Won as a design competition with a local contractor and Architect, the building provided new community meeting facilities and also consisted of a function suite, bar and catering facilities, internet cafe etc.

Brough Community Centre and Library, Humberside

Won with the same team as Wickersley, this scheme offers a new library, community meeting facilities and social service offices.
